TRIAL OF CALEB HANES BEGUN IN SUPERIOR COURT YESTERDAY

Jury Selected And Victim of Crime Examined—Spectators Excluded From Courtroom—Prosecution Will Show That Defendant is Married Man From Stokes.

In Guilford Superior Court yesterday afternoon at a few minutes after three o'clock the case against Caleb Hanes was taken up and the selection of the jury was begun. After about three quarters of an hour the jury was completed, the following men being sworn to serve on the case: W. C. Deboe, F. L. Fentress, J. K. Ozment, John P. Calhoun, A. E. Davis, E. O. Pegram, W. P. Lemons, James Dennis, R. L. Ramsey, John A. Wyrick, J. F. Ellison and E. A. McAdoo.

The court room was crowded and everyone was on the tiptoe of expectancy when at last the jury was completed and Senator Gattis arose and informed the jury that the prisoner stood charged with a crime punishable by death and that he had thrown himself on the mercy of God and his country, the jury being the country. Instead of calling the witnesses he asked Judge Daniels if he had any announcement to make before proceeding with the trial and the court made a statement. Had a bombshell exploded there would hardly have been greater consternation and a look of keen disappointment fell upon the faces of the people in the crowded room. The statement was none other than that the court would exclude from the room during the process of the examination of the chief witness, the victim of the brutal crime, everyone except the court officers and those directly concerned in the case as witnesses and counsel. Judge Daniels finally agreed to allow representatives of the Press to hear the proceedings.

Maggie Fauchette, the victim of the crime, was the first witness called. Her testimony was practically the same as was brought out at the hearing before Justice of the Peace Collins Tuesday morning. She told of first meeting the defendant and seeing him frequently at the home of Mr. Shaw, a neighbor whom she visited frequently. She then told of their friendship ripening into love and an agreement to run away to Danville and get married, of the plans for the elopement on Tuesday night of last week, of their leaving home and proceeding a portion of the way to Brown's Summit where they were to board a train for Danville, of Hanes stopping suddenly in the density of the woods and compelling her to remain with him over night and submitting himself to his brutal passions, of his promise to marry her on Sunday if she would return to Mr. Shaw's and tell them that they were married, of their living together at the Shaw home as man and wife for two days, of the developments that led to the arrest of Hanes and her divulging to Mrs. Shaw and Justice Moore the horrors of the night in the woods.

On cross examination the witness told the same story—despite the efforts of the defense to weaken her testimony. The only points brought out that would weaken the contentions of the prosecution were that she was not afraid of Hanes and that after his diabolical crimes had been committed she made no attempt to release herself from his embrace until he voluntarily released her. She admitted going to the jail yesterday morning at the request of Hanes and making to him the statement that she was still willing to marry him.

At the conclusion of the testimony an adjournment was taken until this morning at 9 o'clock, when Mrs. Fauchette will take the stand. The case will not be completed before late this afternoon.

It is understood that the true name of Hanes is John Joyce and that he is from Stokes county where he has a wife living. If it is proven that the defendant is a married man it will go with him and a verdict of guilty will most likely be returned. However, unless this is proven it is the general opinion that Hanes will be acquitted.

It is rumored that the defendant fled from Stokes county because of a difficulty in which he assaulted a neighbor with a deadly weapon. A warrant came to Sheriff Jones from Stokes several months ago, requesting that a person by the name of John Joyce be arrested on the charge as above stated. The county officers could not find such a person and the warrant was returned. It is stated that Caleb Hanes and John Joyce is the same person and that after fleeing from son.

KING AND QUEEN SHOW THEMSELVES TO COMMON PEOPLE

Procession Yesterday on Grander Scale Than That of The Coronation.

Special to Telegram.

London, June 23.—King George and Queen Mary today showed themselves to the masses as distinct from more favored classes who were able to obtain access to the circumscribed area of yesterday's pageant.

Today's procession was on an even grander scale than that of the coronation. The route was more extended, including a circuit of some of the most popular districts of the capital, and the crowds that looked on were correspondingly greater.

The scenes along the route were to a great extent a repetition of those of yesterday, with a much greater crowd of spectators.

Between lines of cheering thousands, the royal party made stately progress from Buckingham palace. The pageant included four full squadrons of cavalry representing all branches of that arm of the service, life guards, dragoons and lancers, each accompanied by its own band and a section of horse artillery.

These were followed by all the naval and military aides de camp on duty, the war office staff, deputations of foreign officers, the royal suite, the members of the royal family and the foreign princes and colonial and Indian escorts.

In the royal equipage with the king and queen rode Field Marshal Kitchener and the bearer of the royal standard. The royal escort brought up the rear.

Everywhere the king and queen received an enthusiastic welcome from the visitors in the hotels, from the stands of Piccadilly, Trafalgar Square and the Strand; from the business men of London proper, who had brought their wives and children out for this day, and again from their majesties' humbler subjects south of the river.

MANY ELKS AT ANNUAL PICNIC HELD YESTERDAY

The picnic of the Elks at Sharp's pond yesterday was a success from every viewpoint and the day was enjoyed immensely by a large number of the members of Greensboro Lodge No. 602, B. P. O. E. Caterer John Weatherly went down Thursday and yesterday morning was busy cleaning fish and preparing for the fish fry and Brunswick stew. The Elks journeyed to the scene of the festivities in autos and by rail, more than a hundred being on the scene when the call "to dinner" was sounded on a tin pan by Caterer Weatherly.

The Elks passed the day fishing, eating and enjoying themselves in various ways. They returned to the city late yesterday afternoon, only regretting that it would be twelve months until the next meeting in autos and by rail, more than a hundred being on the scene when the call "to dinner" was sounded on a tin pan by Caterer Weatherly.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, June 23.—President Taft has been assured that the Canadian reciprocity agreement will be passed without amendment by the Senate. This information has been given him by Senator Coons, of Massachusetts, who left here to join the president in New England. The regular members, he said, will be defeated. The Democrats with few exceptions will vote to kill all amendments to the measure.

Washington, June 23.—Secretary of War Stimson today issued a statement that no political or other influence was necessary to gain appointments as commissioned officers in the United States Army. Mr. Stimson is anxious to appoint 200 young men to lieutenancy in the army and the only requirements is that they pass the prescribed examination. While a diploma from a college is preferred it is not required, says Mr. Stimson. Any young man who can pass the examination will have an equal chance with those who have diplomas. There are 282 vacancies in the army and the class just graduated from West Point fills just 82 of them. The age limit is 21 to 27. The salary of a junior lieutenant with allowances is $2,000 a year.

The fighting was so desperate and at such close quarters that 500 Turkish fugitives are suffering from serious dagger wounds. The survivors fled in disorder to Gheesan, pursued by the rebels.

The Turkish gunboat Sutteh, intending to shell the Arabs, shelled Gheesan instead, killing or wounding several hundred of the soldiers.

FORMER SENATOR HOPKINS TELLS OF RUMOR OF BRIBERY

Before Investigating Committee of Senate Defeated Candidate Tells of Methods Used to Secure Election of Senator Lorimer—May Resume Testimony Today.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, June 23.—Former Senator Hopkins testifying before the Lorimer investigating committee said that on the day that Lorimer was elected to the Senate he heard that money was used in accomplishing the result. He told the committee that he had many reasons to believe that the Republicans who voted against him had been bribed to do so. He added that he had tried to protect his district, saying that he was sure the public had no desire for a man with a grievance.

After his victory in the senatorial primary Mr. Hopkins said he was considered the Republican candidate for Senator. The election of Senator Lorimer by the Illinois legislature was then inquired into. The witness told of the election of a speaker by a combination of Democrats and ring crowd Republicans despite the action of the senatorial committee by which he was elected as the party's candidate.

The main argument we used was that I had been selected at the primary as the party's candidate and that every loyal Republican member of the legislature should vote for me," said Mr. Hopkins.

Coming down to the report that he had heard about the use of money to defeat him, Mr. Hopkins repeated the testimony he gave the Illinois Legislature investigating committee to the effect that on the day Lorimer was elected, his private secretary told him Senator McCormick had informed him that $2,500 had been offered him (McCormick) to vote for Lorimer.

Mr. Hopkins then told of efforts to keep his force in line on the memorable day when Lorimer was elected.

The committee will resume its hearings tomorrow. Possibly Senator Hopkins will be called to the stand to give further testimony concerning the election of Senator Lorimer and what happened in the Illinois legislature the day Lorimer was elected.

OF THE CITIES OF THE SOUTH

The Wilmington Star is doing some fine work these days for the industrial development of North Carolina's chief seaport. Efforts of this nature should tell in the upbuilding of that city. A certain amount of talk is necessary in starting and continuing industrial development. Movements for the location of factories, the securing of foreign capital or the bringing into use of local capital, must be preceded usually by a large amount of preliminary work, much of which is accomplished in modern times by the newspapers. In fact, as a rule, newspapers are the leaders in these movements. Such movements may have their inception in the mind of some business man or may originate in the collective wisdom of a commercial organization, but after the suggestion has been made the newspapers are generally called upon to furnish the steam, hot air, enthusiasm, or whatever it is denominated, to keep the movement going until men and money can be enlisted to make it a success. Right at this point is where the live newspaper exerts its mightiest influence upon the commercial and industrial life of the community; and if the newspaper has the ability and capacity back of it for successfully performing this class of public service, the good it may accomplish for the community is practically limitless.

The Wilmington Star is working along the line alluded to for the development of the city down on the Cape Fear. The Telegram believes the Star's efforts will prove fruitful and that the near future is going to witness a splendid industrial awakening in Wilmington. The Star, in a recent issue, makes a paragraph reproduced from The Telegram the basis of some thoughts about industrial development which are worthy of careful attention. They are applicable to Wilmington or to Greensboro or any other city of the State. The Star says:

"The Greensboro Telegram, which is edited by a gentleman who has been in the newspaper business in such live industrial centres as Anniston, and who has been in touch with several Southern cities in the course of their development, thus corroborates what The Star has had to say with reference to Wilmington's industrial movement:

"The Wilmington Star is pleased to note a determination in that city to do more than 'invite' the location of industries by going after them and by offering assistance in locating them. Any good, live town can secure industries in this way, but a mere 'invitation' does not secure industries nowadays. Towns and cities which are offering substantial inducements for the location of industries are numerous, and those are passed by which have nothing to offer but a cordial invitation."

"The above is like expert testimony and it comes from one who knows who is doing the city building in the South, whether it is our own people or those who have accepted invitations to drop in and go to work. We wrote what we did from knowledge gained in several cities which invited industries until they got tired and then went to work themselves to build industries and go after them with a sack to get them in."

"Of course, now and then outside capital is bound to come into such a desirable manufacturing center as Wilmington, but the development of this important port and its rank as a commercial city has been mainly achieved by home enterprise and capital. So it is with the other cities which are making progress, and several times we have been tempted to offer a reward for any city that has been developed on the invitation plan. Nevertheless, invitations are all right in a way, but they needn't be depended upon."

"As a matter of fact, we should not depend upon others to make Wilmington an industrial centre, for if they did they would take the credit away from us. You didn't do it, the other fellow did," might make us feel bad if somebody were to jolly us outside some day, in the event that it should happen that we actually did get outsiders to come here and build our city for us."

"All those cities which have quit inviting the other fellow have seen the point for they have quit it and are 'going after' them with inducements—offers of capital, free money gifts, free factory sites, propositions to subscribe stock and all of that. They have found out that beats waiting for invitations to be accepted."

"Finally, the safest and most successful industries a city can have are those which are set on foot by home enterprise and capital. What we ought to do is to find out what kind of manufacturing business will promise results in Wilmington and then invest in them, or get others to join us in the things which look good to us."

The Telegram has no figures at hand upon which to base a comparison, but speaking from a general knowledge of North Carolina cities, our opinion is that Wilmington has the greatest per capita wealth of any city of the State. Undoubtedly there is more idle money in Wilmington than in any other city of the State. The bank deposits show that. This being true, Wilmington is in better condition than any other city of the State to follow up the line suggested by The Star, that of building her own industries. Any of the other larger cities of the State, however, and many of the towns, have sufficient capital to engage in development along this line; and this plan, undoubtedly, is the best plan of all for establishing industries. Better than having no industries whatever is to have them established with outside capital, but best of all is to have them owned and operated by home people, whose interests center around the industries in which their money is invested and who will keep the profits of manufacturing at home.

The best city in the South, as far as the knowledge of the writer extends, from every point of view, is a small city in which every industry, with one exception, is owned by people who reside in the city, is operated by local people and by people whose interests center almost exclusively in the place. The one industry owned by outsiders was established by local people and much of its stock is yet held by them. As an illustration of how local ownership of industries helps, there is one large industry in the city referred to which was founded twenty-five years ago with $5,000 capital. The capital of this concern has been increased to $600,000, and every dollar of the new capital has been earned by the company in the course of its quarter of a century in business. There are several men interested in this business who have grown wealthy by means of the earnings of this business. If it had been established and owned by persons living elsewhere, the profits would have been distributed elsewhere and would have gone to enrich other cities and towns.

The above is one illustration of the truth we are trying to drive home to the and equal, and there are others who have forgotten it.

Governor Blease of South Carolina, discontinued his subscription to the Newberry Observer because he did not like the way the Observer talked about His Excellency, the Governor of South Carolina. If the Governor quits reading all the newspapers of his State on similar grounds he will be practically without reading matter unless he sends out of his State for it. Perhaps he will now become a regular subscriber to the Atlanta Constitution.

◆ WHAT NORTH CAROLINA EDITORS ARE SAYING. ◆

minds of the business men of Greensboro and North Carolina who may read these lines. Another illustration, but showing the opposite condition of affairs, is afforded by a Southern city which, in natural advantages, is not surpassed by any city of the South. It has made remarkable progress but its growth has been retarded by alien ownership of its industries and natural resources. The profits of its magnificent manufacturing enterprises for a quarter of a century have gone to enrich men who live in the North and East and even in foreign countries. With local ownership of its industries this city today would have been several times as populous and wealthy as it is.

Home ownership of industries is the logical, practical, successful plan for making industries contribute in the largest measure possible to the growth and prosperity of a city or town.

Then, coming down to bed rock in the discussion of industrial development, it is a fact that there are scores of cities and towns combined, in North Carolina, where capital for the establishment of one or more industries can be secured among local people. Why not combine the cash and the efforts of the people in each city or town, organize one or more corporations, select a profitable line of manufacturing, build a plant, select a competent manager or superintendent and begin to do business? This course can be pursued successfully. As a matter of fact it is much more difficult to accomplish successfully than may appear to the casual observer, but the details of this plan are such that any successful business man or combination of business men can plan and establish an industry. Judgment must be relied upon in selecting the line of manufacturing to be engaged in and a practical man for general manager or superintendent is absolutely necessary. Frequently it is necessary to have a practical man in charge of the actual work of manufacturing and another in charge of the marketing of the product. These details must be worked out according to the rules of good business and sound judgment, but none of the difficulties in the way of the success of this plan are insurmountable. They may all be met and conquered.

The North Carolina town or city desiring an industry, or several industries, should seriously consider the advisability of establishing its own industry or industries.

Making the application of these thoughts to Greensboro, there is capital here sufficient to establish several industries if it could be combined and put to work in the right channels. This thought is worth the consideration of the Chamber of Commerce and the business men of the city.

If for lack of capital or for any other reason industries cannot be established with home capital, the next best plan is to secure them through the investment of foreign capital. As suggested in the paragraph quoted by the Wilmington Star, however, in order to attract foreign capital to Southern cities it is generally necessary to offer more than a cordial invitation to come among us, spend money and help us develop the country. As suggested, also, this is especially true because of the fact that all sections of the country are bidding for money and industries and compelling offers are being held out on every hand for the purpose of securing industries. This is especially true in the West, in many sections of which natural advantages are great and where they are made to appear superior to those of other sections by the efforts of men who are trained in town and city building and business development and who appear to throw practically unlimited energy into the scale along with enterprise and money. To meet the offers of other sections and to secure men, money and business in competition with the West and the North and East, the South has found, and will continue to find, it necessary to meet her competitors on common ground and combat them with weapons similar to their own. The South, too, has natural advantages; as great as those of any other section of the country, but they must be made known to the world and business-like steps taken to induce an influx of capital and population. In the words of one of Greensboro's industrial captains, when you go after anything take a sack along to bring it home in; and be sure that men, money and industries will not come unsought and unaided. We will have to go after them, run them down and attend to the job of sacking.

In the meantime, while we are seeking assistance from outside sources, let us consider the advisability and the advantages of helping ourselves of establishing industries with home capital, of keeping the profits of manufacturing in the pockets of our own people and in the vaults of our own banks.

MARRIAGE

(By VIRGINIA HARLAN.)

The momentous discovery that there are awkward moments in most marriages is hailed by the people who want to be the newest of the new as if it were not as old as Adam and Eve.

It is used as an argument for short time marriages, for marriage in which husband and wife are to have separate homes, for marriages in which husband and wife are to live a perpetual table d'hôte existence with other people in order to see each other in private as little as possible.

There is no more limit to such imaginations than to the dreams which follow indigestion.

They have just the same amount of reason in them. No one since Eve ever doubted that it is difficult to make marriage work well. But that proves that men and women are not good enough for marriage. If it really proved that marriage was not good enough for them, they would have given up the institution centuries ago.

There are funny people who make themselves believe that customs and morals come into existence out of sheer stupidity, and go on existing because the world is too stupid to destroy them. It is obvious enough that custom, were it only a man's taking off his hat to a woman, would never begin to be without a reason and would never go on being if there were no reason for it. Which is why marriage as it is will see many a generation more of revolutionaries go to their own place.

INDICTMENT PREPARED.

Important Action Against Steel Corporation is Contemplated.

New York, June 22.—Preliminary drafts of an indictment of an important nature have been drawn for presentation to the Federal grand jury here, and the indictment probably will be handed down next week. This grand jury, it was learned tonight, has been conducting a secret inquiry into the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation.

The probe was started about the time that a complaint of the Alpha Portland Cement Company, of Manheim, W. Va., against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was heard by an examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Louis H. Porter, for the company, in presenting his case, then said:

The United States Steel Corporation practically dominates the railroads of the country and its tremendous influence has enabled the Universal Portland Ce-

MORAN READY

Two Great Lightweights In Fine Shape For Battle July 4.

CHAMPION IS BIG FAVORITE.

Since His Victory Over Burns Title Holder's Stock Has Gone Up—Little Briton Is Dangerous Customer and May Upset Things.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Ad. Wolgast, champion lightweight of the world, and Owen Moran, the doughty little Briton, are in fine fettle for their twenty round mixup to be held in San Francisco July 4. Since he defeated Frankie Burns so decisively in sixteen rounds recently in Frisco the champion's stock has gone up, and now he will probably be an odds on favorite when he enters the ring with Moran. Those who think Wolgast should be a big favorite over Moran had better hold their bets for awhile, for on form the little Briton has a very good chance against the title holder.

As to weight and size they are very evenly matched, both being about the same height and can scale at about 128 nicely if called upon to do so. The chances are that they will go into the ring about 130 pounds each. Moran is a past master at boxing, and he knows the game as well as any of them.

As to hitting, there is little to choose between them, for boys who have met both of them say that Moran is the harder hitter of the two, although they admit Wolgast has the most dangerous swing. Moran depends more upon straight punches and a nasty short arm uppercut that is liable to make trouble for any opponent.

A great many have compared the two by Moran's showing with Packy McFarland, but it must be considered that when Moran met Packy he was in anything but good condition. That was his fault, of course, but nevertheless he was not in shape, as has been admitted by those who know since the contest, and for that reason it may be well to overlook his poor showing with the Chicago stockyards champion.

Then, too, McFarland might have done the same to Wolgast in a short (7.) Verse 1—Did Isaiah or anybody else ever see with the outward eyes the actual eternal God, and will he ever be so seen?

May 21. Song of the Vineyard. (A Temperance Lesson.) Isa. v:1-12. Golden Text—Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink. Isa. v:22.

(8.) Verse 11—Name some of our outstanding national sins, and state which you regard as the greatest of them, and why.

May 28. Micah's Picture of Universal Peace. (An International Peace Lesson.) Isa. vi:1-8. Golden Text—Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. Isa. iv:3.

(9.) To what extent is the Christian church responsible for the present insane preparation for war?

June 4. Israel's Penitence and God's Pardon. Hosea xiv. Golden Text—Thou art a God ready to pardon, gracious and merciful, slow to anger. Neh. ix:17.

(10.) Verse 1—What proportion of the members of the present day evangelical churches are walking in the conscious favor of God?

June 11. Hezekiah's Great Passover. 2 Chron. xxx. Golden Text. Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. 1 Sam. xv:7.

(11.) Verse 1—What was the passer-over and what its origin?

June 18. The Downfall of Samaria. 2 Kings xvii:1-18. Golden Text—He, that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall suddenly be destroyed and that without remedy. Prov. xxix:1.

(12.) Verse 7—What was the real first cause of the blotting out of the kingdom of the ten tribes? (v:20.)

WHO IS YOUNGEST BALL PLAYER THAT EVER MADE GOOD?

"Who was the youngest ball player that ever made good?" asked Wilbur Roach, the young infielder of the New York Americans, recently of his teammates. "I don't know," answered Chase. "Who is it that holds this youthful record?"

"Why, Fielder Jones, of course," was the quick rejoinder. "You see, he was a Fielder when he was born."

Some of the players recovered and were able to leave the club house in an hour.

WHY STARS ARE SCARCE.

Hal Chase Says There Are Not Enough Players For Sixteen Clubs.

It isn't often that Manager Hal Chase of the New York Americans can be started on a baseball talk, but when he does loosen up he shows himself to

ED WALSH, WHITE SOX STAR TWIRLER, is a diamond philosopher. Some one asked him the other day why it was that so few ball players stood out head and shoulders above the rest, reference being made to Cobb, Speaker, Collins, Mathewson, Devlin, Lajoie, Brown, Johnson, Evers and Walsh. In the old days there was not such a marked difference in players.

"That's easy enough," replied Chase. "There are about enough star ball players to go around in one league, but there are not enough for two leagues. The country doesn't produce enough of them. In the old days only eight clubs had to be supplied. Now there are sixteen big league teams to be looked after."

SCORES YOUNG CATCHERS.

Pitcher Frank Smith Says Boston's Juvenile Backstops Are Jokes.

"Young catchers are great stuff," says Pitcher Frank Smith of the Cincinnati Reds and formerly of the Chicago and Boston American league teams.

"The more I see of them the more I wish that the laws permitted the hunting of them in season, same as partridges or snipe. In Boston they assigned a kid catcher to backstop me. Pretty soon there was a runner on first, and this boy signaled me for three successive pitch outs. I sent three wide ones, the runner never moving, and then settled myself to get them over when that kid signaled for fourth pitch out. I walked over to him. 'Kid,' said I, 'you are signaling for a base on balls. Lost your nerve or lost your memory?' The boy had lost all track of the number of balls I had thrown to him."

TEN GOOD UMPIRES IN MAJOR LEAGUES.

A league president might hunt for 100 years without digging up five better umpires than Klem, Emslie, O'Day, Johnstone and Rigler of the National league or five better ones than Evans, Sheridan, Connolly, O'Loughlin and Dineen of the American league. These are the best men of each staff.

The other ones are younger and less experienced, who in time may or may not grow to be as proficient as their associates. Several of the first class umpires of today were mediocre when they started out. An umpire can improve like a player:

TWO STURDY LITTLE LIGHTWEIGHTS WHO WILL BATTLE FOR TITLE JULY 4.

bout—outpoint him completely—but it might be a very different case in a long fight with either one.

Wolgast has all the confidence in the world, and he is one German who will carry the fight to the other fellow. Ad loves to mix at all times, and the fans may rest assured that they will get a run for their money. Moran has a splendid chance to carry away a point decision, as the distance is only twenty rounds, a route he is just as able to travel as Wolgast, and being clever and a good ring general, he will no doubt try to play for the decision, as it would mean much to him.

On the other hand, it will be a case of rushing for Wolgast, as he will not take any chance of losing a point decision if he can put over a sleep producer—all of which augurs well for a corking good battle on the glorious Fourth.

WHY RUSSELL FORD IS EFFECTIVE.

Much has been written about the various mystery balls that Russell Ford pitches, but the real reason for his effectiveness lies in the fact that he puts the sphere over some part of the home plate as often as possible. In this way he has the batsmen constantly in the hole and gives them no chance to wait for free passes. History teaches that the greatest pitchers the game has ever known have been able to control the ball under the most trying circumstances.

Mr. Porter's statement was brought to the attention of United States District Attorney Wise, who in turn placed it before the grand jury.

Storms in Connecticut Uproot Orchards and Break Windrows.

At Bayardsville every tree in an apple orchard owned by Alfred Hungerford was uprooted by the wind. At Long Mountain the hail broke windows in every house in the village, an average of twenty panes each being smashed in. Sixty-five panes, the highest number, was the loss at the home of

Do You Read the WANT ADS?

Have you found out what interesting news is contained in the want page? There is a reason why want ads are interesting to everybody. Supply and demand create a market. The man who has an article which he has no further use for, with the assistance of a little want ad, can find readily the other man who is looking for just that article. On the other hand the man who is looking for some particular article can find the man who has it and who it perhaps has not occurred that he can sell it, thus by means of the want ad purchasers and sellers for small articles get together.

Try a Want Ad in The Telegram, it makes no difference what you want, tell it here.

Heavy gray linen is much used for the background for embroideries which are to be employed as house decorations.

Bedrooms and living rooms for country houses are furnished in gray in many instances, and the linen is used for bed hangings, cushion covers, table cloths and window hangings.

Ambitious needlewomen are embroidering these articles in quite elaborate designs in several colors.

For one bedroom a set of hangings for the bed and windows is being made of the gray linen embroidered with designs of wood fairies and fuchsias in tones of violet, green, pale yellow and fuchsia red.

Join together two lengths of cheap red flannel, so as to make it the proper size for quilt, and on it tack any old woolen garments and knitted under-vests, underdrawers, stockings, etc.

Over these place, as a cover, another piece of flannel of the same size, or chintz or cretonne, if you prefer, and featherstitch firmly all around the edge.

You will thus have a good, warm quilt at the cost of a pocket handkerchief.

J. E. LATHAM.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, June 23.—The map this morning shows fair weather in two-thirds of Texas and Oklahoma, generally cloudy in the eastern third of Texas.

The weather continues cloudy and unsettled east of Texas, with general showers daily. Indications are for unsettled weather and local showers in the eastern third of Texas, but generally fair in the western two-thirds, and Oklahoma probably clearing and warmer weather after today; and a clearing tendency in the central States also.

A leading spot house in Texas sums up the situation by saying that so far relief has been local, that the crop has withstood the first dry spell but could not stand another one without serious deterioration and as July and August are usually hot months apprehension is beginning.

The new crop outlook continues good and in many respects presents new history. The best preparation, the best stands, the largest use of fertilizer, the biggest acreage, the best cultivation and an abundance of contented labor are some of the expressions to which general assent is given.

If a single acre this year has been abandoned on account of frost, floods or grass, it failed to be recorded. A few acres have been abandoned because dry weather did not admit perfect stands.

Dry weather has generally prevailed which has caused the tap root to go down and thus enable the plant to withstand extremes of drought or moisture hereafter. Another thing, hot dry weather is very inimical to the work of that ugly bug called the boll weevil.

Generally speaking, the crop at this date shows splendid promise—almost perfection. In the face of this picture the market remains above 13c, and declines are rather quickly regained. The reason for this is that the memory of two disastrous crops is very fresh and the cotton-growing world not only wish a good promise but they need a big crop.

While the prospect now is good it's a long time until we begin to count bales.

Cotton by comparison with past history and other products is high, but good prospects must prevail to bring about the drastic decline to 11, or 12c, that one hears predicted now and then. Spinners

RAILS FOR NEW STREET RAILWAY TRACK ARRIVE

The improvements contemplated in increasing the number of miles of street railway in this city will be commenced in the near future and with a large number of laborers in the work will be pushed to a rapid completion. Eight carloads of steel rails forming the first detachment of the number required to lay three miles of track, arrived here Thursday night and the work of unloading progressed merrily yesterday.

Expecting to begin operating the new schedule over the lengthened route by August 1st, work of placing the trolley poles from the corner of North Elm and Church streets down the former street to the Greensboro Country Club property has already been completed and they will be carrying the trolley wires within a few weeks. Poles have also been erected along the extension west from Lindley Park to the Terra Cotta works. The task of excavating will be begun very soon on both extensions and the officials of the company and patrons of the service are looking forward to the completion of the additional trackage by the time specified.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES YESTERDAY

In Superior court yesterday morning when the cases against John Hart, the charge being retailing, were called the defendant failed to appear, and his bond of $500 was declared forfeited and an instant capias ordered to issue. The officers were searching for Hart, but had not located him yesterday afternoon. His wife appeared in court and stated that Hart was at home suffering from delirium tremens, but he was seen at the passenger station shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning and the impression among the officers was that he had left the city.

Jim Suits was tried on the charge of retailing, being found not guilty.

There were three retailing cases against W. F. Stinnett and he plead guilty in each case. Stinnett was convicted in Municipal court and sentenced to serve six months on the streets in each case, from which judgment he appealed. The impression is that he will be given a stiffer sentence by Judge Daniels.

Sam Harris was convicted on the charge of retailing, being fined $50 and costs.

Charles Whitfield was found guilty of retailing, no sentence being pronounced. Joe Gary was acquitted of the charge of passing worthless checks.

Women and Society

The Little Babes That Go Away. All in a quiet morn of sleep sometimes they go away; All little shadows up the hill and down the hill in gray.

To some strange land where only we have trust that they are sweet.

They go away, they go away, but not on dancing feet!

Now if you wonder whither, oh, it clutches so the heart,

And here they are and there they are and everywhere they art;

Half fluttering through a fevered night they close their little eyes,

And suddenly another rose has bloomed in Paradise!

Ev'n though we waited for them long at bottom of the stair,

Or at the gate, or in the hall, or almost anywhere,

They would not come, they could not come, but oft in sleep we feel

Their little velvet hands again across our faces steal!

Oh, little babes that go away, just any how we'll wait,

And linger by the little stair and linger by the gate;

Perhaps some dusk and holy hour we'll see the little gray

And holy company of the babes, the babes that go away!

HOARY TYRANT KING ALCOHOL

Liquor Dislodges Man's Judgment and Leaves Him Unreasing and Demoralized Being.

Of all the tyrants of passion to which human frailty ever swore allegiance, there is none whose rulership is so physically, morally and mentally enslaving and menacing to manhood and self-respect as that of the old, hoary, tottering tyrant, King Alcohol. While an impaired and broken-down body may still leave the mind in possession of powers to engender humanizing and intellectual efforts—as witness a blind John Milton and Michael Angelo, a hunchbacked Alexander Pope, and a dyspeptic Thomas Carlyle—the decay of the mind wrecks the entire man, both mind and body, writes Dr. Axel E. Gibson in an exchange. Alcohol by acting directly on the mind, dislodges the individual from his moral center of gravity, unbalances his judgment and leaves him sooner or later as an unreasoning, de moralized and devitalized being.

Sentiment and moral suasion are not sufficient to stir up the unfortunate victims of this vice to a full realization of the seriousness of their situation. Facts must be presented—naked, tangible, irrefutable facts. We must approach the enemy in his own stronghold and assail him with his own weapons.

We are often met by the argument that alcohol as a drink generates warmth and strength, and above all serves as a valuable stimulant. Nothing, however, is more erroneous. The sensation of bodily heat, to which a drink of whisky on a cold day is accredited to give rise, is based on the quality found in alcohol to open way for the warm blood stream to the surface tissues of the body. The moment the cutaneous vessels become filled with blood a wave of warmth is felt to pass over the body—only, however, to disappear a few moments later unless a new drink is indulged in.

Old, wise Mother Nature, always provisional, and far-seeing, has given to the vital processes of the body a perfect system of economy. Under the influence of cold the skin is made to contract its vessels so as to prevent the normal and indispensable heat of the body from passing out of the system the moment the blood stream sweeps through the cuticle and becomes exposed to the cold, absorbent, surface tissue. The sensitive and more highly organized interior viscera, such as the heart, intestines, lungs, brains, spinal cord, etc., are thus kept warm at the expense of the coarser and less readily deranged structures of the skin. Now, in place of assisting nature in this ingenious scheme which, for the prolonged maintenance of life is absolutely necessary, the consumer of alcohol thwarts her efforts and wastes his bodily resources in unreasoning wantonness. He may to some extent be compared with a person who after having heated up his apartment to a point of normal temperature, throws his doors and windows wide open to the withering cold of a winter's blast. Indulgence in alcohol as a stimulant against cold, opens the capillaries of the skin and sends out into mid-air the reserve fund of warmth which is intended to surround and protect from cold the interior high-strung vital organs. Hence the sensation of internal cold which always follows as soon as the effect of the drink is passed off, a sensation which often leads to cyanosis and alcohol poisoning. It is on the basis of this fact that in polar expeditions all indulgence in liquor is strictly forbidden.

Probably one reason for the pernicious action of alcohol is that it is upon the "night side" of nature. Fermentation rudely interrupts the normal life cycle of a grain or seed and sets up instead a destructive decomposition. This vibration introduced into the living organism cannot but induce similar vibrations, therefore its effect is always injurious in every respect. Unprejudiced tests have shown that those who partake of it are less capable of both physical endurance and mental exertion.

The progressive drunkard soon begins to exhibit the old characteristic marks of flabbiness and looseness of excessive tissue. The cause of this phenomenon lies in a physiological process equally simple and impressive. As is well known, the blood, among other important things, contains two kinds of blood corpuscles—the red and the white. While the functions of the red are to exchange oxygen derived from the lungs, for carbon dioxide, derived from the combustion going on in the bodily tissues, the functions of the white blood corpuscles consist in removing and causing to be eliminated from the system all broken-down and effete tissue. Bacterial invasion, ulcerated tissue, inflammatory elements, are all cleared out promptly and diligently by this vitally so important blood corpuscle.

Now if on the microscopic slide we bring a drop of alcohol in touch with a white blood corpuscle outside the

SHEER WHITE COTTON

CAN BE USED FOR SIMPLE BUT PRETTY WEDDING GOWN.

Handwork With Embroidery or Lace Will Make It as Attractive as an Infinitely More Costly Dress Would Be.

You can have a pretty wedding with a gown of sheer white cotton, made attractive by your own simple handwork with embroidery, fancy stitches or a bit of lace, which will be a much more useful dress to wear after you are married than more costly and elaborate gown of satin, chiffon or net. These latter materials are lovely, but if you expect to spend your evenings quietly in your own home you will, like many brides before you, never have another occasion to wear a handsome white gown after you are married. But I do plead for a veil, which need not be very expensive, says a writer in the Ladies' Home Journal. In draping a tulie veil fasten one corner on the head under a wreath of orange blossoms, myrtle or a band of pearl beads. Arrange it in graceful folds, and shape it around the lower edge to conform with the length of the dress. Use a heavy silk wire draped with narrow ribbon for the foundation, to which the veil may be sewed and fastened with long pins on the head. The veil may be drawn around over the face, and the folds simply parted and thrown back after the marriage has been solemnized.

I saw a fascinating idea for a veil worn by a bride who departed in several pleasing ways from the established customs. A lovely Spanish lace scarf was arranged on the head over a wire band, with a two-inch frill falling around the face in Greuze fashion. Over this was fastened the long veil of cloudy tulle, wreathed with small green leaves. One might use a frill of fine old lace in this manner. It gives delicate, softened appearance to the face, and is more becoming than white dress.

If you are having bridesmaids, the prettiest and newest sorts of headwear are the little lingerie caps of all-over lace or net, with plaited frills and rosebuds. In keeping with these caps, dresses of bordered muslin would be charming in the short-waisted Greek style, simply made, with a silk cord around the waist tied in a bow on the left side in front.

If you do not like the idea, now often followed, of going gloveless, choose white suede kid rather than glace. To wear with your traveling suit you will need a pair of heavy gloves—gray and brown are the shades most worn—in kangaroo or soft-finished buckskin, and either one of these colors in the numerous tones fits nicely with almost any color suit.

The only good husband is the one who can lose $10 out of his own pocket in his own bedroom and not say a word because it wasn't twenty.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Greensboro People Know How to Save
It.

Many Greensboro people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when most all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly relieved by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

F. S. Miles, Main St., Reidsville, N.
C., says: "I am a strong believer in Doan's Kidney Pills, having used two boxes of this remedy. The results were very satisfactory and consequently, I feel justified in advising other kidney sufferers to give this preparation a trial."

OLD BLOCKADER AGAIN IN TOILS IN CABARRUS

Concord, June 23.—Dave Fraley, a veteran blockader who has been operating in Stanly, Rowan and Cabarrus at various periods for the past thirty years, is in jail here and a still he was caught operating Wednesday, by Sheriff Honeycutt and Deputy Sheriff Propst, is in the grand jury room at the court house, together with eight bushels of meal. The merchants present seemed to think that public sentiment is against trading stamp propositions in this city.

A petition was drawn up denouncing
all trading stamp propositions and was signed by those present and will be carried to every merchant in the city,
several of those present volunteering their services in giving the petition a wide circulation.

The arrest of Fraley yesterday pro-

famous trial about thirty years ago murder of Revenue Officer Walker, which crime occurred in Stanly county, where Fraley was then conducting an illicit

Stanly that the trial was moved to this county and was one of the hardest fought legal battles conducted here. Ex-Judge Montgomery and the late John W. Mauney, of Salisbury, represented Fraley and Ex-Judge F. L. Osborne, then solicitor, H. S. Puryear and the late Samuel J. Pemberton of Albemarle, represented the State. Fraley was found guilty only of manslaughter and sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary.
He served his time and was given 13 months for good behavior. After regaining his freedom he went to his home of thirty miles and thank one of his attorneys, as he said, for saving his life.

Since that time he has been living in Rowan county, and from reports he has always been more or less connected with blockading liquor.

WINSTON MERCHANTS OPPOSE USE OF TRADING STAMPS

Winston, June 23.—At a largely attended meeting of some of the city's most prominent merchants, a vigorous protest was entered against all trading stamp propositions of any kind, as being a tax on the consumers of the city as well as the merchants themselves.

It was stated at the meeting that a concern is now endeavoring to start such a business in the city and it was for the purpose of preventing the establishment of such a concern that the meeting was called.

It was contended in the meeting by the merchants who have had experience with trading stamp propositions that they are unwise, as the consumer pays for the premiums offered, it was claimed.

One gentleman stated that it would constitute a tax of between three and three and one-half per cent on the business the merchants have already built up in the city. A further argument made against such a concern was that a large percentage of the stamps paid for by the merchants and given to their customers are never redeemed by the trading stamp concerns, because they are not presented by customers.

The merchants present seemed to think that public sentiment is against trading stamp propositions in this city.

A petition was drawn up denouncing
all trading stamp propositions and was
signed by those present and will be
carried to every merchant in the city,
several of those present volunteering

CASTRO CAUSES MORE TROUBLE

Adventurers In Latin America Worry Uncle Sam.

THEY NEED WATCHFUL EYE.

State Department Officials Could Have Quiet Summer if Soldiers of Fortune
Would Take a Vacation—Departure of Diaz Does Not Guarantee Peace
Will Endure in Mexico.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN,
Washington, June 23.—(Special.)

Our state department officials could have a comparatively quiet summer if it were not for the Castros, the Zelaysas, the Maderos and a few other descendants of Spanish immigrants in South and Central America. With our Monroe doctrine to maintain and the necessity of policing the American continent is essential for our officials who look after foreign affairs to keep a watchful eye on those who are ready to incite revolution and set up new governments.

About the most pestiferous person the United States has ever had on its hands is Castro. Back in the days when the scholarly John Hay presided over the state department Castro was a thorn in the pathway of that serene diplomat. "That dirty little dog, Castro," was Hay's expression when dealing with Venezuelan affairs.

It is believed that the reports that foreigners are now getting valuable concessions for which large fees are paid to government officials in Venezuela has had a great deal to do with bringing Castro back to the scenes of his former exploits.

Trouble in Mexico.

Nor is there any guarantee of peace in Mexico. The departure of Diaz has not satisfied the turbulent revolutionists. Nor will they be satisfied until they can have an opportunity to handle the public funds, grant concessions and, in short, "get their share of the swag." Of what use is a revolution unless the leaders can make some profit?

The patriotism of so many soldiers of fortune in the southern republics is measured by the amount of money they can obtain, and our officials are busy keeping watch on events in the disturbed territories.

Would Save $150,000,000.

Congressman Bartholomew of Missouri, known as the apostle of disarmament,
or, rather, the reduction of armament, says that if the arbitration program which has been proposed by President Taft could be carried out in good faith by all nations it would save the United States $150,000,000 a year.

"Think what we could accomplish with that money," said the man from St. Louis, "in the way of internal improvements, art and science. Of course there would have to be a certain amount of military strength maintained, but we could save a great sum annually that could be spent to a better purpose. President Taft has looked far ahead, and he ought to be up to what he is doing."

What Slayden Wanted.

A man with a big picture of the battle of Gettysburg to sell went to Congressman Slayden's room to negotiate because the Texas member is chairman of the committee on library, which handles all such matters. Of course Slayden knew that an economical Democratic administration of the house would not buy pictures, so he joked the dealer.

"If you want favorable consideration from me," he said, "don't come around with Federal victories. Bring in a few Confederate victories with the Yankees getting the worst of it. That will interest me."

Too Tame For Mann.

It is a matter of great regret to Minority Leader Jim Mann that the house of representatives is running along so smoothly. He would like to have more disturbance, something in the nature of a riot each day, but the well disciplined Democracy refuses to be taunted into affording Mann that pleasure.

"Well, we'll wait for the regular session," said Mann. "Then there will be a different condition. The business of the house will not then be all the time under the management of Oscar Underwood, and they will make more mistakes on the Democratic side."

"Frank is a Brother of Bill."

A Minnesota summer resort received quite a little advertising out of a proposition of Frank Nye to have a summer camp established on the shores of one of the many lakes. President Taft and his successors were to be given a summer home, and probably congress was to be moved up there in case of a summer session.

A Minnesota man was asked about the project and replied: "Frank is a brother of Bill Nye, and Bill, you remember, was a noted humorist. It probably runs in the family."

Imaginations In The House.

"This place," said Congressman Booher of Missouri, referring to the house of representatives, where he was making a speech, "is the greatest place I was ever in for men to draw upon their imaginations."

And that was just after the many speeches had been made upon the Canadian reciprocity agreement and the farmers' free list bill.

ARMY TO REMAIN AT SAN ANTONIO

Special to Telegram.

San Antonio, Texas, June 23.—That it is the War Department's intention to keep the army in San Antonio indefinitely is emphasized in the fact that General Carter has been allowed $10,000 with which to erect lumber shelters for the horses and mules of the maneuver division.
While the camp is situated high and dry where the sweep of the Gulf breezes at all times tempers and makes the heat bearable, no shelters of any kind have been prepared for the animals. Standing in the glare of the sun, and where there is more or less dust, is having a bad effect upon the eyes of the horses and mules and it is to protect them that the lumber shelters will be

CAROLINA LEAGUE WILL BE DIVIDED INTO TWO SEASONS

New Season Will Likely Start on Next Thursday, June 29.

Greenville, S. C., June 23.—According to the vote of clubs around the circuit the Carolina Association season will be divided and played in two divisions similar to the plan adopted by the South Atlantic League.

It is understood that Anderson felt discouraged at her cellar position and wanted a fresh start. She telegraphed some of the other clubs and with Spartanburg to assist her got Winston to wear to call for a vote. Winston is the only town which has not yet been heard from but it is thought they will favor division. Greenville is the only town which has voted against the two season plan. Anderson, Spartanburg, Charlotte and Greensboro are in favor of the two seasons and the majority carry the move.

Nothing definite has yet been announced but the beginning of the second season will very likely fall on Thursday, June 29th.

The Greensboro Club yesterday cast its vote in favor of commencing a new season next Thursday, June 29. The first half of the season first proposed will end next Wednesday night, and a second season is begun next Thursday will be the right time for it.

Just at this time Greensboro sacrifices more than any other team by voting for the new season, but there are so many advantages in doing so that the club did not hesitate to sacrifice its interest to the common good. Some of the teams are so far behind that to go on with the present season would mean nothing to them. People of the towns in which the clubs are located, knowing that their teams have no chance, do not turn out for the games so well.

A new season started now will give all teams a fair show. One of the clubs in the second division may win the second half of the season. If the same club wins the first half of the season and also the last half, that club will get the pennant. If different teams win the first and second halves, those two teams will play a post-series of seven games, and the team winning four of these games will get the pennant.

Much interest will be felt in the next four days' games. Greensboro has a chance to win in the first half though Winston has a slight lead at present. Were Winston to lose and the Patriots win today, Doyle's men would be only 6 points behind Clancy's tribe.

PATRIOTS TAKE THE SECOND OF SERIES FROM SPARTANBURG

Spartanburg, S. C., June 23.—Five errors by Second Baseman Williams of the locals gave the game to the Patriots 9 to 6. Laval's Red Sox worked hard but could not overcome this lead made by the visitors in the first three innings. Williams erred nearly everything that came his way and was cheered roundly when he did catch a little pop up in the eighth. Rightfielder Lowman, of the Patriots, got three singles and a triple out of five times up. Score: Greensboro 222 020 001—9 11 2 Spartanburg 120 021 000—6 9 7 Batteries—Eldridge and Stuart; Smith, Laval and Westlake. Umpire, Leibrich.

PITCHER GRIFFIN GETS PINK SLIP

Greenville, S. C., June 23.—Pitcher Griffin, of the Greenville club, has been released for indifferent playing and the club is rid of a disorganized and a sore head. Pitcher "Buck" Flowers, Greenville's best last year's twirler, has been secured and will report Monday. Waivers were secured for him from the Davenport, Iowa, club. Either Pitcher Hanks, of Danville, in the Virginia league, or a pitcher supposed to be released by Charleston Saturday night, will probably be added to the club. One new fielder is to be secured soon to strengthen the locals.

ELECTRICIANS WON GAME FROM THE SPINNERS 6 TO 5

Anderson, S. C., June 23.—Five errors of the locals were directly responsible for four runs made by the Spinners this afternoon but the locals won at last 6 to 5. McCarthy was good in the box, though he is a regular outfielder. Ridgeway was wild at times, but he received good support. Manager Dick Smith, of the visitors, sent a ball through a hole in the fence in the ninth and trotted around the bases.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Anderson 101 000 04x—6 8 5 Greenville 000 202 001—5 8 2 Batteries—McCarthy and Brannon; Ridgeway, and Kite. Umpire, Nugent.

DIAMOND DUST

Do it again today, Charlotte.

To the Hornets: We voted to give you a chance. Now whip the Twins today and give us a chance.

Rube was not in super-excellent form, but he won his game, which is the thing most desired here.

The Deacon will be on the mound today, and will no doubt bring home another victory for the Patriots.

With Carroll back in the game, Doyle will start into the second series with the best team in the league, strengthened and "better than ever."

With only one season, we feel sure Rabbit Doyle would win, but see no reason why we shouldn't do the same thing under the proposed program.

Jack Ridgeway is back with Greenville, but has an understanding that he will not have to come to Greensboro when the Spinners come here to play.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE WARE-KRAMER CASE

Deposition of Vice President of American Tobacco Company Concluded And Oral Testimony of Ware-Kramer Salesman Given.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, June 23.—The morning session of the Federal court in the trial of Ware-Kramer Company vs. American Tobacco Co. for one million two hundred thousand dollars damages in the destruction of the trade of Ware-Kramer Co. through trust methods of fighting competition, was cut short through the supply of depositions that had been passed upon by Judge Connor for reading to the jury having given out, a recess was taken soon after the noon hour and a couple of hours spent in passing on additional depositions for jury consumption in the afternoon and tomorrow. A couple of hours was taken up this morning with the completion of the reading of the deposition of W. R. Harris, vice president of the American Tobacco Co. and chairman of the board of directors of the British-American Tobacco Co. The trend of this evidence for the plaintiff was to show that the American Tobacco Co. with its allied corporations, the British-American Tobacco Co. and the Imperial Tobacco Co., dominates the tobacco business of the world even to the extent of steps taken by the allied corporations to keep the prices of tobacco down in various tobacco growing sections. Phases of the deposition were questions and answers to show that in order to keep down the prices of tobacco in the Southern States of the United States, the A. T. Co. encouraged the growth of tobacco in foreign countries and that there was a co-operation to keep down the prices of tobacco as well as in monopolizing the business in manufactured goods. It was also in this deposition that there was brought out correspondence in which it was shown that the A. T. Co. traced shipments of Ware-Kramer goods to China and Vice President Harris wrote the representatives of A. T. Co. to give them a warm reception, meaning to impede their sale and standing on the market all they could. There were also a series of questions and answers in this deposition designed to show that it was not the American Tobacco Co. that gave that corporation's goods their world-wide distribution, but the ingenuity and business activities of Washington Duke & Sons that became a part of the American Tobacco Co.

Counsel C. C. Daniels, for the plaintiff, began the reading of a lengthy deposition of John Troustine, New York, who held $36,000 stock in the Ware-Kramer Co. However, there were objections to a number of important questions and answers and the deposition was laid aside until the issues could be threshed out before the judge in chambers. There was a considerable delay during which counsel for the plaintiff dug about in piles of depositions for some to read. Finally that of Miss Helen Simmons, of Baltimore, was produced and read by Mr. Swindell, of counsel.

All the evidence was given in the case against the Southern Railway for shifting cars on Sunday, but the passing of judgment was postponed.

Thomas Walker was fined $10 and the costs for disorderly conduct.

The case against Florence Overman, a white woman arrested for vagrancy, was not pressed on the condition that she leave the city immediately.
